

WESTERLY

Many complaints are made by the large number of people who motor up and down High street. This is one of the busiest streets in town as a large proportion of the stores are located on this thoroughfare which is in very poor condition and has been so every since the roadbed was dug up for the sewer pipe which runs the whole length of High St. There are holes in the center of the trolley line about two feet apart. The sides of the tracks adjoining the paving blocks are left unfinished and when its storm one can see the whole distance of High street holes filled with water. The motorist who has to use this street while shopping has to go over this poorly kept roadbed. It does not give a good impression to see this street in the center of the town in such shape. It should be taken care of, instead of being patched up and let go, especially when summer traffic is the heaviest and people come into Westerly from the railroad station.

Invitation are out for the wedding of Miss Mabel Allen of Westerly to Robert Edgar, Jr. of Stonington, which will take place Wednesday, July 12. Mrs. D. W. Bessel and James Horley, of Providence, were callers here Thursday afternoon. Mrs. K. C. Nelson has returned from a trip to Providence. Mrs. Stephen Shippes of Mystic was in Providence Thursday afternoon.

Friday afternoon eight men under command of Sergeant C. R. Dowling left town for Fort Getty and the supplies went along as to be in readiness for the Sunday dinner. This is the annual camping tour of the 249th company Rhode Island C. A. C. N. G. The company will assemble at the armory Sunday morning at 8 o'clock and the trip to camp will be by automobile. The men will have 15 days at camp and they are looking forward to it with interest.

George Kemp who lost his Ford touring car Wednesday noon, was pleased when the car was located Wednesday night in Fall River, Mass. A man who was driving the car struck a child when at the corner of Broad and Bedford streets and knocked it down. The traffic cop gave the signal for the car to stop but the driver failed to obey. Upon making an investigation policeman who was on duty reported that the man had jumped to one side of the road when he also signally him to stop at the next corner. The investigation showed that the car's registration was of Rhode Island and belonged to George A. Kemp. With the aid of the Westerly police the thief is being sought.

Two violators of the automobile laws were before the Third district court Friday morning for exceeding the speed limit on the Watch Hill road. Martin Staples of Norwich, who is a conductor, was charged with exceeding the speed limit of 15 miles an hour on Beach street. He had trailed July 2nd from the cemetery to the junction of Beach and Elm streets and was making about 25 miles an hour and passed two cars going in either direction. He was fined $35 and costs $2.50. Martin Staples of Stonington was before the court on a charge of exceeding the speed limit on Beach street July 4th. He pleaded guilty. He it was claimed, was making 25 miles an hour and had been followed from River Bend cemetery to Thompson's Corners and had passed two cars going in the same direction. He was fined $35 and costs, amounting to $3.50.

Both cases came before Judge Oliver Williams.

Friday morning Dr. John L. May of Westerly reported that his surgical grip had been stolen. While his machine had been standing in front of a patient's house on Williams street in Stonington he went to the machine to get the case and found the case missing. It is believed that it was stolen by a passing automobile driver. Sheriff Casey was notified of the loss.

Frank Levesque, alias Bishop of Wyoming, who figured in an automobile accident at Noone Neck, June 25, is being sought for. The man was indicted for manslaughter and while held at the Kent county penitentiary at East Greenwich made a getaway July 2.

The public utilities commission of Connecticut arrived at New London from New Haven at 4:12 p. m. Wednesday and left Groton at 5:30 p. m. in a special car for Mystic. At Mystic the car awaited on the westerly side of the Mystic bridge and went over the Old Mystic line and then on to Westerly, arriving at Westerly at 7:50 p. m. After supper they went to the Elgin Hotel where they stayed for the night. Thursday morning they left on a special car for Norwich at 7:15. Upon arriving at Norwich they went over the Connecticut company's railway lines to Danville, and inspected the line that runs between Jewett City and the Massachusetts state line.

COVENTRY

Mrs. Agnes Faulkner has sold her place to Manchester parties and will give possession next week. This is one of the historic places of Coventry, the home of Harlan Page, who organized the Sunday school in 1813, and was later connected with mission work in New York. The house was enlarged and remodeled a few years ago by W. C. Sparne and now presents a very modern appearance.

Harry Gemblatt was brought before Justice W. B. Hawkins Monday morning, charged with assault on Joseph Kanell and with making a disturbance on South street. The two men are partners in a grocery and meat business recently purchased from F. J. Sears which seems to cause considerable strife between them. Greenblatt was fined $2 and costs, amounting to $5.05, which was paid. After the trial Greenblatt remarked that his partner made and sold liquor, which led to his house being searched by Prohibition Officer Stanton L. Briggs and Sheriff A. R. Harmon. A number of five gallon cans and one gallon pugs that had contained liquor and a quantity of mash and liquor in jars and bottles were found and brought into court. Evidence of witnesses that he had sold them liquor was produced and Kanell was found guilty of having liquor in his possession and selling the same. He was fined $50 and costs, a total of $59.75, which was paid.

There was a ball game in the afternoon of July 4 between the local and Manchester Green teams. In the evening a supper was served from 6 to 8 by the Ready Helpers' society.
